“ I had dream the yesterday. We were walking around like normal and we found a clothing store inside a gas station and that interested you more than me. Then we saw a "Lamborghini" drive into a apartment complex and I wanted to go check it out... You were reluctant but we walked over and discovered it was a kit car. Not the real deal. Thanks for another adventure buddy. I'll see you again someday.

“ Jamie, I remember our little kid days very well. We used to drive Jo crazy, play HORSE at the basketball court, ride our bikes, and play in the rain when it was storming. Do you remember that? I do, like it was yesterday. Your goofy laugh and red hair always brightened my day. We had fun as kids! That is how I remember you. The last time I saw you, was at my wedding. You looked happy and were always smiling. I loved you like a brother, you practically were every summer. Nobody on this earth loved you more than your grandparents! Jo & Gary were always there for you no matter what. Some people have never had anyone like that in their life, but you were so blessed to have such loving grandparents. I love you bud! You will be missed. Love your friend, Maria (Riviera) Edwards

“ I miss you buddy, you where the closest I ever got to having a brother. We had a lot of good times in the accord and life was always exciting and stress free when you were around. I'll never forget how we drove all around Michigan looking for the car parts for your car and listening to Tool and Dave Mathews Band. You were certainly one of the smartest guys I knew and you had so many goals and a wonderful heart.

“ My sweet first born. We didn't get the chance to meet again. As I go through these pictures the gift of retention and the beauty of your red hair is despite. I will still see you on monday. Everytime I passs a creek or s beautiful tree I will think of you. I was so terrified when you were entering this world, but I knew it would be okay. The fear at your birth I was reborn. You saved my life. You changed me. Pale blue eyes and strawberry hair, it was a gift. You were my gift. The gift is mine to share. Ill never let you go.. until Monday when I see your gorgeous faces once more and the angels will sing for us being reunited. love forever and always Mommy
