“ She was a very beautiful soul. Very talented in her paintings and had the cutest laugh. I have fond memories of her and her smile. - Julie Heatley

“ I knew Debbie when she shared a household at the Memory Center with my wife. Deb always smiled when I complimented her on her nice shirts, and she laughed at my corny jokes. Even when we thought she wasn't paying much attention, we'd hear her chuckle when my wife would tease me. That sort of thing always reminded me about the issue of the glass half empty or half full. Really, it's always full. You can see the water at the bottom; you can't see the air in the top half, but it's there. Debbie helped me remember not just to pay attention to what we can see is missing, but also to what we can't always see, that's still there.
