It was just hard for myself to believe that I will never see my brother-in-law anymore in this lifetime. I do feel him in the air around me, I do believe he's in a better place watching over me. I just wish he wasn't taken off this Earth so soon but the memories will live on through me I surely will never forget. I love you Paul this isn't goodbye but so long.

His presence instantly brought joy and smiles to the people around him. He always a positive influence, in my life specifically he would always talk about the importance of college and getting an education. Now, I am more than ever determined to obtain a PhD in the next few years as I know he would be proud. Paul, you will always be missed, loved, and never forgotten.
