“ I have known rose for about 60 years. we moved into they're neighborhood about 1953.

Her husband Garner being a army vet, rose being a army nurse and my father being on PT boats. and both families with young children just set the stage for typical American neighborhood in the country. Rose was always our go to person when ever we were in need of information or we were leaking blood. we kept her quite busy patching us up always. Rose was an officer in the army and was not going to accept any insolence from her subordinates. especially not some snotty nose.

But the other side of that is the security you felt being with a woman who could do anything and was afraid of NO ONE. Rosie quite simply was always willing to do for anyone if they were in need and would put others before herself. Rosie had a new sidewalk poured , it was all cured and she was proud she had finally gotten it poured. so here I come on my bike slam the brakes on and put a black streak down the middle of her nice new concrete. well the next step for me was to scrub. it off with soap and water. military (you think).

as you get older its very easy to remember the good people who took the time to help you become a better person. Rose Farrell was definitely a person who had a large influence on my childhood and I will be forever indebted to her.

I will always love and miss you "ROSIE"

The best mother-in-law, she taught me everything about gardening, canning and freezing the crops we grew. Love and miss her so much.

“ My prayer's go out to the Farrell Family. I have many great memories of working with Rose over the years at the Saline Community Fair through my volunteer work with the Saline Rotary Club. She was a great lady and we had many laughs and good times over the years.
