“ We send our deepest condolences for Rose’s passing. The inevitable has again happened. May the next weeks go just as they should and may love and discovery be part of the journey, Condolences are extended to the entire family. No matter how expected a death is, it is always a shock to our realities. I have so many memories of Rose living next door for Mom. They lived on Easy Street in Caseville for many years in their twin homes. Rose would like clockwork come over midmorning in the latest years, knock and say I is the coffee pot on? As often as not she would say, I made some hot buns or muffins and I brought you some. She was equally needing company herself but also looking in to be sure Gertie was OK. Rose was always up for a few games of cards and was often the instigator. It was also predictable for them to sit on Mom’s porch swing for part of each good weather afternoon. Despite it not always being an easy relationship between the sisters, it was at its core a lifelong love, appreciation and sharing. There was much shared and accurate to say they helped each other into long lives.
